GATHER AT THE JAIL.

Coxeyite Sympathizers Surround the County Jail.

CHEERING FOR IMPRISONED MEN.

Sensational Speeches Made by Speak ers at the Coxey Headquarters Wealers Parade the Streets.

The crowd was not large at Populist headquarters last evening when the industrialist's home reserve "mass meeting" was called to order by Captain Elmer Hunter. Col. Vinette of the California regiment was also on the rostrum. The number at the meeting did not exceed fifty, but there was a certain degree of enthusiasm throughout the speeches that broke loose once or twice in a roar that seemed impossible from so small a crowd. There were only three or four women present. None of the local Populistic guns were there, and the first person to address the meeting was Col. Vinette. He wore a cream colored coat and vest. The first part of his speech was devoted to a mention of the hardships endured during the trip from California. He warmed up pretty soon however, and got down to the downtrodden condition of American workmen. "We have the right to vote today and yet we are slaves," he said, and then he thought of woman suffrage. "The women may get the right to vote, but they will still be slaves. It is better to be a horse than to be a wage slave. (Applause.) The slave of thirty-five years ago was better off than we are today. He had no worry. He knew he was provided for, and that his food would be ready for him the next day.

"As you well know we are on our way to Washington. We go there as delegates representing thousands of our fel-low workers. We are on a strike. We are striking for certain things and until we get them we will not work. (Loud applause). We demand the right to live in accordance with our nineteenth century civilization, and we will not work until we get it. (More applause). We will not see our women and children toil and starve for these Shylocks, these monsters who control the labor of this country with a despotic hand. We want a bill from congress paying all laborers for their work according to their share of the work done, and unless the bill we get suits us we will keep up the strike. (Wild applause).

"It has been said that Kelly's army has been offered work. It was probably offered like work was offered us-at $2 a day for $8 worth of work and to replace union men. We won't work to replace union men nor home laborers. If you should offer us work here I would say, You have idle men here who need the work. Give it to them. We have work. We are working to get to Washington.' [Applause.]

"The people most run their own institutions. The cry is and should be, 'Nationalize all useful institutions,' and divide the results on the exchange of labor principle-each man to get for his share what he put in in labor." The colonel sat down amid much enthusiasm and felt so encouraged that he called for his "Rough and Ready" quartette and

Moses Harmon was then called on and arose with his falling beard and his rising inflection and talked for a few minutes. "We need a reconstruction of our national law in the interest of all. Women as well as men. I am rejoiced at the stand the Populists have taken on the suffrage question."

There was no one else to speak just then and Captain Hunter ventured to make a few observations in introducing by way of a starter a recommendation for a resolution of condolence to the twenty-four Sanders men in jail here. The applause at this was vociferous.

In the course of his remarks Hunter said: "They are there for riding on a train that was theirs already because they had paid for it in taxation many times, as was the case of the Union Pacitic. It is all right for the railroads to crush us, but all wrong for us to crush back. I am tired of it."

The speaker then turned his attention to the Hon. Joe Waters. "He was going to get them out of jail at once. But when it came to a showdown where was he? He is a Republican, that's all there is to Jos Waters. "The jury was composed of men who were against us. I have seen that jury racket worked before. They are against us because Wall street said, Those men must not come to Washington,' and they are trying to stop us, but they'll never do The speaker then recited a little family history about Republican jury packing in the Indian territory and said, "I hope the Republicans here are better than those in the territory, for those down there are no better than dogs.

"We intend to drill. The other fellows are getting ready to use firearms. The court house here is full of Winchesters now to shoot Populists with. Missouri miners marched into Leavenworth the other day and what did Crosier and Neely and those fellows do? Went after them with firearms and the miners had not a weapon to defend themselves with. If they get guns. we'll get guns. We haven't yet, but we will." At this point the speaker was interrupted by wild cheers and a dog that was interssted in the proceedings set up such a dismal howl that the speaker thought it was a good chance to make a point so he said, "That dog is like the Republicans. He don't know what he is howling about." This called for more applause and the speaker, for fear his unsupported word might not be taken, read a newspaper clipping to prove his Leavenworth assertion. speaking of military drill he further remarked, "I'll say that not two-thirds of the old soldiers are in the Republican party today."

The resolution formerly asked for was then read as follows:

"Resolved, That the imprisonment of the unemployed is contrary to the spirit of American institutions and is copying after the despotic nations of the old world."

The adoption of the resolution was practically unanimous, the only vote against it being that of Captain O'Brien, who forgot himself and voted both ways. Captain Hunter then suggested that the meeting march in a body to the county jail and give three cheers for the Sanders men imprisoned there. The suggestion met with favor and the men scrambled to the street and "fell in." The march to the jall was quiet but the men could hardly wait until they had stopped on the Fifth street side of the building before they allowed their pent up enthusiasm to overflow in a series of discordant yells without the semblance of united effort. The leaders got things in shape pretty soon however and three tremendous roars were given for the imprisoned wealers, and the caged up birds responded.

Col. Vinette then called together his singers and gave revised selections from the opera of Sinbad. One had "The Bogie Man," for a foundation and was as

But they will all reach Washington,
Before the summer's o'er.

Chorus—Hush, hush, here comes the Coxey man—Ho's marching on to Washington, he'll free you if he can. (Repeat.)

Quite a crowd had gathered by this time and there were more cheering and more songs and they shouted words of encouragement. "Ye have friends on the outside, boys," yelled one of the Californians and another added, "Yes, millions of 'em," There were more yells at this and the company marched around to the house of Labor Commissioner Todd and he made a short speech in which he said that he was with them in their beliefs but that he advocated peaceful methods and thought the best way to bring about reform of any kind they wanted was to stay at home and vote. The cheer to this didn't have the same ring, quite.

On its way back to the hall the company stopped at the Capital office and sang: "Goodbye Old Party."

The hall was soon reached then, and then the company disbanded for the WEALERS IN A FIGHT.

The Colored Cook Gets Drunk and is Arrested and Jailed.

There was a fight at 8 o'clock this morning among several drunken mem-bers of Colonel Vinette's commonwealers in the city park. It was a noisy, rough-and-tumble bout and resulted in several black eyes and loose teeth. The patrol wagon arrived on short notice with four policeman, and Pete Arden, Frank Vaughn, Jerry Sullivan and C. H. O'Brien were arrested and tried in the police court today. They were all acquitted except Vaughn, the colored cook of the company, who was fined $20. The trouble in the camp had been brewing since last night when the Coxeyites marched up to the Populist league hall. Several white men in the ranks told Vaughn it was the place of a negro (they nidn't pronounce it that way) to be seen and not heard. They thought Vaugh had entirely too much to say about how the camp should be run.

He got drunk last night and continued to raise a disturbance until morning. Henry George Sanders, a young Ea-lishman, who isn't any relation to the "General" of the same name, got tired of hearing Vaughn talk and suggested that if he would check the "flow of his bazoo" his friends could sleep better. At this Vaughn kicked Sanders on the face inflicting a cut and breaking several teeth. Several of Sanders' friends jumped on Vaughn and the cook made things interesting for all of them. The fight was not checked until "Colonel" Vinette arrived and put an end to the fuss.

Col. Vinette was a witness in the police court today and his testimony indicated that Vaughn was the aggressor in the fight, and that the others who were arrested were on the defensive. Largely on the strength of this all but Vaughn were discharged. Vaughn who is crosseved and uses wretched English and looks like a bad man, showed bad taste in talking too much to Judge Eusminger until the court threatened to fine him for contempt. In fining Vaughn Judge Ensminger addressed himself to Col. Vinette and said, "I have no doubt there are many good men in your ranks, but I am convinced that Vaughn isn't one of them. The sooner you get rid of him and those like him, the more respect you will command of the court and of the public."

THEY WILL ADJOURN.

The Populists Who Meet at Paola Tomorrow

WILL NOT MAKE A NOMINATION.

But Will Adjurn Over to July 12 Says Committeeman Semple-Other Political News. Secretary R. H. Semple of the Populist state central committee, said this morning that the Populists in the Second district who have been causing the trouble about the postponement of the congressional convention have now agreed to meet at Paola tomorrow and adjourn over to July 12, the date agreed upon by the district central committee. Mr. Semple says it is doubtful if a majority of the delegates will go to Paola tomorrow so that it would be impossible for the "kickers" to do any business and an adjournment would be forced Secretary Semple says one of the reasons why the Wyandotte county delegates are kicking is because they were not allowed a larger representation. The basis of representation in the district was made the same as that to the state convention which gave Wyandotte county fourteen delegates. The county wanted the vote on congressmen at the election two years ago made the basis, which would have given them twenty-eight votes, and they are sore because the committee cut their representation in two.

FOURTH DISTRICT POPULISTS. Platform Adopted at the Congressional Convention at Emporia. The following is the platform adopted by the Populists of the Fourth district at the convention which nominated S. M.

Scott for congress at Emporia yesterday: We, the representatives of the People's party of the Fourth congressional district of Kansas, do most heartily endorse our present state officers for their wise and economic administration of the affairs of the state whereby a saving of nearly a million and a half dollars has been made to the overburdened tax pay-

We pledge our united support to the state platform and most heartily com-mend the wisdom of the state's convention in adopting the amendment, which means what it says when it proclaims equal right to all and special privileges to none. BOODLE BILL BUCHAN.

Geo. W. Martin Says the Party Has Had Enough of Him. The story that Billy Buchan and George Martin had patched up a truce seems to have been a mistake. In the Kansas City Gazette of Tuesday in an editorial under the caption, "Mr. Buchan Must Subside," Editor Martin says of Buchan's record: We do not understand that Mr.

Buchan is such an overshadowing individual that everything in the county and the district must be sacrificed, and that everybody else must stand aside. He has been in the saddle for twenty years, and he has made no record outside of boodle and a very offensive bossism. He has never been identified with anything but political jobbery and manipulation. do not know that he has ever had any interest in a business movement in the city. It is dead sure he has never been identified with a moral issue or movement in all his years. He is not a great stumper or speaker, and he has never furnished anything profound or interesting through the medium of writing. On the contrary he has great credit on all sides for spreading political rottenness and demor-

"Buchan served in the house during the sessions of 1878 and 1875. He began services in the senate in 1877, and in this capacity he continued until 1892, when he was defeated by a vote of 5,052 to 6,-175 for his competitor. The majority against him was 1,124. Harrison's majority in the county was 861. The Republican county ticket at the same elecion received majorities ranging from 600 to 1,000. "The only active work done in that canvass was by an anti-Buchan Republican club. It is understood that if it had not been for his Democratic support he would have been beaten by at least 8,000

"Why was this? Because Mr. Buchan made no other reputation in the state legislature than that of a boodler.

"Under his bossism Republican politics in Wyandotte county were demoralized. This may be understood when it is said that his defeat at the polls in 1892 followed a unanimous nomination at the primaries. The question for the nominating convention of the Second district to consider is: Can the party go before the people with a candidate possessing such a record, and after the people of his own county voted him out? Can we face the charges that will come up from all parts of the state concerning his boodling while a state senator? Can we face the stories to be heard everywhere of his blackmailing operations, his hold-ups of people having claims against the state while chairman of the joint ways and means committee? Can we face the awful affidavit made, and now a part of the public records in the Hillmon insurance case? These charges have been iterated and reiterated for years, and there has been no defense, palliation or explanation attempted."
